Frosh, Sophs To Vie Tonight in Mixer Fun

Freshmen and sophomores can really anticipate "livin' it up," when they get together for the Frosh-Soph Mixer tonight in the Women's gym at 8 o'clock. According to the entertainment chairman, the competitive activities are shaping up for a fine contest.

The mixers are conducted each quarter between the two classes on a competitive basis. A traditional plaque is awarded to the class which wins the contest, according to points credited to each activity. Tonight these will include a tug-of-war, talent show and a dance contest. Points will also be given for attendance.

Masters of ceremony for the evening's entertainment are Bill Kennedy, sophomore, and Jim Tormey, freshman.

'RO' Battalion Now Regiment

The ROTC cadet battalion has been reorganized into a cadet regiment, Col. John E. Rogers, head of the department of military science and tactics, announced yesterday.

Previously the cadet corps was organized into one battalion. The switch creates another battalion and additional officers.

Appointments were given to 29 cadet officers in their new posts under the change. Cadet Col. Rodney Bayne was given the position of regiment commander.

Homecoming Cost Exceeds Allotment

Dee Jukich, ASB treasurer, reported in Wednesday's meeting of the Student Council that the Homecoming committee still is receiving bills which have now amounted to $225 more than the allotted budget.

She pointed out that a previous Council ruling obligates any committee which expects to exceed its budget to report to the Council.

Election Petitions Available Monday

Applications for election petitions will be available in the ASB office of the Student Union Monday, according to Stan Croonquist, chief justice of the Student Court.

Deadline for filing these applications is Wednesday, Feb. 3. Elections will be Feb. 19, Croonquist said.

The following representatives to the Student Council will be elected:

One senior to serve a half-year term, one junior to serve a full year, one sophomore to serve a full year and two freshmen, one for a year term and one for a half year.

Sophomore and junior classes will elect full slates of officers: president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

One male and one female junior justice also will be elected to the Student Court.

To be eligible for election, a student must be on clear standing, not less than six units deficient for his respective class. He may hold no other ASB offices and must be declared a member of his class council for at least one of the three quarters previous to nomination. An active member of a class council is one who has attended at least three council meetings.

The two justices must have completed 69 units and not more than 114 units at the time of elections to be eligible.

Class officers and representatives will take office immediately upon election. Justices take office the first day of the quarter following election, Croonquist said.

Revelries Cost Estimated $567 Above Budget

A slight disagreement between estimated Revelries production costs came to light in the meeting of the Student Council Wednesday. The disagreement amounts to $567.

Bill Kennedy of the Revelries board presented an estimated budget of $1567 and was informed that the Board of Control has recommended that expenditures be kept within $1000 this year. Reports shown by Kennedy listed higher production costs in previous years than that foreseen by the present Revelries board.

ASB President John Aitken pointed out that the all-student show is supposed to be a self-financing venture and that the Council is "taking a gamble" every time Revelries is produced.

Council Sets Up President's Fund

The Student Council voted Wednesday afternoon to set up a separate fund of $100 for use by the ASB president to promote public relations.

Treasurer Dee Jukich submitted to the Board of Control the recommendation for a separate account which will allow student body presidents to be reimbursed for expenses incurred on behalf of the college with the least amount of "red tape."

The ASB president previously shared a public relations fund with President John T. Wahlquist and Lowell Pratt, director of public relations. The student body president will be required to submit an itemized report to the council for each expense.

Engerud, Kennedy Named to AEC

The first meeting date for the Activities Evaluation committee will be set today, according to ASB Vice President Bill Eckert.

The Student Council Wednesday appointed Pat Engerud and Bill Kennedy to join Eckert and three faculty members on the committee which is scheduled to conduct a long-range investigation of all campus activities.

West Coast Nature School Registration Starts Monday

Registration for all persons interested in attending West Coast Nature School is to be held in Rooms S-136 and S-123 Monday, Feb. 1, at 8:30 a.m., according to Dr. Gertrude Cavins, professor of chemistry and science education.

The school is to be held in Death Valley March 21-27, spring quarter vacation, and two units credit in natural science will be awarded each participant.

Instructional cost is to be $15, which is to be paid upon registration. Food and room costs, payable at the time of a general meeting later in February, will be $16 and transportation fees will vary between $8 and $10.

Science majors are to register in Room S-136 at 8:30 a.m. Registration for this group will be kept open until noon at which time it will be opened to all students. The

By JOHN STORMER
Approximately 1000 qualified new students desiring enrollment at San Jose State next fall may be turned away, Dean of Students J. H. West said yesterday.

The college will be forced to refuse admittance to approximately 1000 students if the state legislature imposes a 6000 student limit on the enrollment through budgetary limitations.

DEAN JOE H. WEST

The ceiling, if imposed, will have drastic effects not only on admission policies, but on personnel and variety of courses offered, Dean West stated.

In keeping enrollment within the proposed ceiling, more than half of all freshmen who can be expected to enroll here next fall will be refused admittance.

The dean also stated that a less lenient policy probably will have to be adopted in evaluating the records of enrolled students with academic difficulties.

Standards of admittance for transfer students also would be tightened to some extent.

Other results of the ceiling would be a curtailment of the number of classes offered, reduction in faculty and administrative personnel, and possible elimination of many limited students attending college under the extended day class program, Dean West believes.

As a result of studies of enrollment trends he has made, Dean West predicts that approximately 4150 students enrolled for spring quarter this year will return to school next fall. This will permit the college to enroll only 1810 new students and 275 former students and stay within the proposed enrollment ceiling.

During the last autumn quarter 2846 new students were admitted by the college and 275 former students re-enrolled.

Of the new students, 1737 were admitted from high schools and 1089 transferred from junior and other colleges.

If the ceiling is imposed, Dean West stated that he felt most of the reduction in admissions will have to be made among freshmen because they can attend junior colleges, while those transferring with advanced standing from junior colleges would have nowhere else to go.

Basing his estimates on that premise, he stated that probably not more than 950 freshmen could be admitted and approximately 850 transfer students would be enrolled.

No policy has been established as yet, the dean explained, concerning the basis for rejecting applicants; however, he personally feels that an increase in admission standards would be the best way. It also has been proposed that the application deadline, presently Sept. 1, be set back into the summer.

A decision on the ceiling on enrollment will not be made until the state legislature meets to act on the governor's budget.

Frosh Counselor Deadline Friday

Applications are still open for Freshman Camp counselors, Sam Yates, camp director, said yesterday. The deadline is 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Applications are open to the general student body, Yates pointed out.

Three appointees were named to the planning committee of the camp Wednesday afternoon. They are Carol Hotchkiss, Mary Ellen Bailey and Bob Lindsey.

Justice Seeks By-law Change

Chief Justice Stan Croonquist submitted a court recommendation to the Student Council Wednesday afternoon that "clear scholastic standing" be added to the qualifications for student body officers given in the ASB by-laws.

Croonquist pointed out that the Council recently has been following such a policy and that it should be made official. His recommendation was referred to the Constitution committee for consideration.

Awards Group Raps AMS Action

The Awards committee, in a meeting yesterday, considered the purchase of jackets by the AMS last summer as a violation of the committee policy.

According to Harp Didier, chairman, no organization may vote themselves awards. The committee decided to recommend to the Student Court to have the Student Council and Board of Control deduct the cost of the jackets from the present AMS budget.

Thrust and Parry

SAC Untactful

Dear Thrust and Parry:

In reference to an article which appeared in your column Tuesday, Jan. 26, I would like to know what the Social Affairs committee had in mind when it refers to a "successful" dance. Is the committee's idea of success based upon the principle of providing an enjoyable experience for many members of the student body, or is one to believe that the Social Affairs committee feels that a successful dance is one which is devoted to the display of "fashionable" attire for the male specie?

Perhaps the Social Affairs committee did not reread its article in Thrust and Parry Jan. 26, especially the part which states, "It also was agreed that dark suits would be appropriate to enable students with financial difficulties to attend."

Why be so subtle? Why not give every fellow who wears a dark suit a badge which clearly states, "I have financial difficulties."

The Social Affairs committee's article seems to give the impression that anyone wearing a dark suit does so because he is suffering from financial embarrassment, and the Social Affairs committee has certainly provided a good opportunity for creating embarrassment.

It seems that if the Social Affairs committee wishes to make a statement they could show more insight and make a more tactful statement.

Not Our Business?

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Wednesday's editorial in the Daily about the semester system change hit the nail squarely on the head. Especially the lines, "As students, we like to think that we are part of the college and that our voices can be heard sometimes." Evidently whatever we had to say on the semester system change meant nothing. They weren't interested in what the average student thinks. "It isn't the students' business," the Council said.

Where do they think this school would be without the students?

As someone once said, "I hope we do not bog down in needless discussion regarding the relative merits of the quarter and semester systems. The decision is made and we can better occupy our time."

COUPONS — It's the biggest bargain of the ages!

Vern Perry, Social Affairs committee chairman, informed the Student Council last week that he had spent $20 on phone bills to bandleader Jerry Gray but that singer Linda Lee, who usually warbles only to the tune of $500, is coming along for free. What, no soap coupons even?

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — The winner of this year's Death Valley poster contest was a 25-year-old Korean veteran who is majoring in commercial art. His name, uniquely enough, is Tom Painter. The posters will be displayed on campus this week, announcing the Death Valley jaunt. In its haste to display Painter's work of art, the science department tagged his winning poster, "By John Panter."

IKE PRESENTS — Last Sunday morning one of the local house mothers found this telegram on the sorority front porch:

"Congratulations on such a tremendous pledge class. The White House has been in utter turmoil since we heard the wonderful news. Sorry Mamie and I could not come to Presents as we had made previous plans. Signed—Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Editor's note—So far as we are concerned the Siouss Novnejad criticism of the Spartan Daily is closed in this column. The matter has been discussed at length, and further letters on this matter will not be printed.

Glovers Impress; Batter Cal Poly

By BOB STRIEGEL

San Jose State's battling boxers showed power and class last night as they rolled to their second straight dual-meet victory by out-pointing Cal Poly's Mustangs, 6-2, at Crandall gym in San Luis Obispo.

Coach Julie Menendez' glovemen won four bouts on decisions and took two others by forfeit. Spartan winners by decisions were John Hernandez in the 125-lb. class, Allan White, 132-lb.; Tom Stern, 165-lb., and heavyweight Dave Fanner.

Dick Bender, SJS explosive puncher, had to be content for the second time this season with a forfeit victory. The Mustangs also failed to produce a contender in the 132-lb. affair and Joe Rodriguez from Sparta was awarded the win.

Making his first appearance as a San Jose mittman, John Freitas put on a great battle in losing to one of the best 147-lb. boxers on the coast, Poly's veteran Jack Bettencourt. The near-capacity crowd rose to its feet in this bout as both fighters put on a terrific exchange of blows.

In the evening's initial bout, tall and slender John Hernandez from San Jose threw flurries of left jabs and hooks in taking the decision from Cal Poly's Frank Hernandez.

In an exciting attraction, Mustang lightweight Ted Trompeter scored a thrilling win over State's sophomore Danny Hayes.

Colorful southpaw Dave Fanner outpointed Jim Herra as the latter kept well away from Fanner's lethal left hand. Fanner, however, did manage to land a few strong one-two combinations.

Tom Stern, displaying a beautiful jab beat the Mustangs' Judd Morse, and Allan White, changing to the unorthodox style for SJS, stopped Alex Penovaroff.

Diamondmen Hold Intra-Squad Test; Pitchers Workout

The pitching staff of the 1954 Spartan baseball team will be given its initial chance to show some talent this afternoon as the squad culminates the first two weeks of practice with an intra-squad contest.

Coach Walt Williams indicated that practice has been slowed up considerably by the wet field and he has not had a chance to test the hitting or speed of the team. He did give a good account of team fielding and said that this should be one of the best defensive clubs in his tenure as coach of the Gold and White horsehiders.

After stressing fundamentals the first two weeks of workouts, Williams will begin work on offensive punch and strategy in preparation for the opener with Alameda Naval Air station March 3.

"The first string lineup will be partly decided by this afternoon's performances," the coach commented, "but there are several new men who may take some starting berths from the returning men if they continue to show the same ability and hustle they have shown in the first two weeks." Hitting will be the determining factor in most cases, he added.

San Jose Gymnastics Team Drops Season Opener, 55-17

Taking a clean sweep in at least three events, the Stanford University gymnastics team overwhelmed the Spartan gym men, 55-17, in the local pavilion last night.

Jack Alberti proved to be the lone hope for the Spartans as he turned in the only winning efforts for SJS. Alberti took top honors in both the tumbling and free exercise departments.

The Indians scored sweeps on the horizontal bar, parallel bars, and rings.

Coach Hugh Mumby's Staters were hampered from the beginning when it was learned that they would be without the services of highly-touted Ron Phillips.

Phillips, a freshman, was expected to carry much of Sparta's attack on his shoulders but was not able to compete in the meet due to an attack of the flu.

SPARTAN DAILY 3

Matmen Wrestle Tonight

Two Spartan wrestlers will be out of action tonight when Coach Hugh Mumby's grapplers try for their second consecutive team decision by entertaining the Cal Poly Mustangs in the Spartan gym at 8 o'clock.

Lightweights Themios Condos and George Lao will be lost to the Spartans as both suffered injuries Tuesday night as SJS upset a strong Stanford squad, 18-16.

Kay Toyota, letterman from last year's squad, will replace Condos and Vic Harris, 130-lb., will go in place of Lao. Ron Stringley is the Raiders' choice in the 137-lb. class, and Pete Herder, who pinned Stanford's Bob Spencer, is Mumby's pick in the 147-lb. division.

Herder could be involved in one of the more interesting matches of the meet as he will face the Mustangs' Tom Hall who placed second in the Far West Wrestling Tourney last year at Oakland.

Tom McIntosh, victim of a decision at Stanford, will try to avenge that in the 157-lb. match. In the 167-lb. duel, Tom Stern is the Spartans' hope.

Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Champ Dick Francis, after handing the Indians' Pete Pierce his first setback, will attempt to continue his streak of consecutive wins as a 177 pounder.

Either Dick Fleeger or Jerry Ruse will compete in the heavyweight class for SJS.
